

Synergetics Becomes an MICROSOFT AZURE Circle Partner

Synergetics, a consulting, training, and Cloud Services Organization specializing in Microsoft technologies and platforms, is pleased to announce that it has been selected by Microsoft to become a member of its Windows Azure Circle program – an invitation-only program available exclusively to Microsoft's top Azure partners.

Azure Circle Partners are a select group who support all aspects of Microsoft's cloud platform and have an interest in developing and growing their Windows Azure business. Membership signifies the company is focused on helping customers build and implement custom application development for the Infrastructure-as-a-service and platform-as-a-service model.

"We are honored to be selected by Microsoft for the Azure Circle program," said Ajay Khankhoje, Synergetics Business Head. "This achievement acknowledges Synergetics's investment in delivering outstanding consulting and training on the Azure cloud computing services platform, and serves to demonstrate the level of quality and expertise that we have been able to put together on Azure, both on the training side as well as the consulting side."

Synergetics offers Windows Azure related consulting and training services and has extensive experience working closely with Microsoft to migrate customers to the Azure platform. In fact, Synergetics has created much of the content for one of Microsoft's Partner Enablement programs, developed a series of Azure Webinars available publicly on the Synergetics-Live.com site, migrated customer systems to the Azure platform, and performed a wide variety of other work within the cloud computing arena. Joining the Windows Azure Circle program – an invitation-only program available exclusively to Microsoft's top Azure partners – now enables Synergetics to leverage additional joint resources with Microsoft for our customers, including vouchers for special Azure pricing, jumpstart services to help customers understand the benefits of Azure and get them up and running quickly, and other benefits.

Mahesh Shinde, VP-Marketing & Sales said, " Synergetics is extremely excited to be selected as an Azure Circle Partner, We are proud to be able to extend the benefits of the cloud to our customers like faster time to market and a reduction in TCO.”

“Our teams are focused and committed to helping our customers in developing and deploying more infrastructure and applications that ensure seamless adoption to the Windows Azure platform, stated Ashvini Shahane, Vice President Delivery Synergetics.

For nearly two decades Synergetics has developed, integrated, deployed and managed IT services and solutions for leading organizations across the globe. with 32 Global Mirror Shoring Partners spanning three continents and a team of Lead Architects, Synergetics’s well experienced teams of experts are strategists, problem solvers and implementers who understand how leveraging technology can solve real business problems and maximize opportunities.
